WHEREFORE, having reviewed Appellant's motion for preliminary declaratory and injunctive relief, the Court finds that Appellant has demonstrated both a strong likelihood of success on the merits and the possibility that it faces immediate, irreparable injury following the implementation of the Settlement Agreement (Docket No. 60). Therefore, it is entitled to preliminary injunctive relief, and the Court grants the motion as follows:

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF PUERTO RICO [PROPOSED] ORDER GRANTING PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

No. 3:12-cv-2039

2. The Court hereby suspends the implementation of the Settlement Agreement (Docket No. 60), and naming a Technical Compliance Advisor (T.C.A.); until such time as case(s) U.S.C.A. 13-2079 and/or U.S.C.A. 13-23-06 are resolved.
3. This Preliminary Injunction shall take place immediately, and shall remain in effecting pending resolution of case(s) U.S.C.A. 13-2079 and/or U.S.C.A. 13-2306; as shall be determined upon resolution of either and/ or both cases; or any further Order from this Court.
4. Since neither plaintiff USDOJ and/or co-defendants Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the PRPD shall incur in no expenses by the granting of this Preliminary Injunction, no bond shall be required.

DATED this ____ day of _____ of 2013, at ____ a.m./p.m.

Hon. Gustavo A. Gelpí
United States District Judge
